A DINNER COOKED

Over One Hole of the Stove or Range, FOWL MEATS, CABBAGE.

This wonderful invention is attracting wide-spread attention. It is a simple device; made of tin, core prising three sections, which can be used together or separately. The water which steams the food is rapidly distilled into a delicious soup. The "Mincle is seen in the placing in one section—fower or inpa, potatoes, &c., &c., &c., and steaming two or three kinds of puddings at the same time—without the slightest change of dayor. It is a philosophical result which astonishes all, and has given the steamer a popularly never equalled by any cooking invention. Every family should have one. No family can afford to be without it. It will pay for itself in every short time.

—The Morgantown Post says the "great democratic and conservative mass meeting" of "white men and white boys," advertised for two weeks in advance, to take place at Maidsville, in that county, Saturday (20th,) proved to be a miserable fizzle. The Post learns that about a dozen voters congregated to see the big guns (1) and hear the "national salute;" but agrey speaker was there, and wary "salute" fired; and adds: "The above is a fair section of the Wass and santing at the captain. I shall be happy to meet you."

Me notice with pleasure the communication of Chartiers Valley in this morning's Commercial, and would here say that no one would be more pleased to see a western outlet for the Allegheny Valley road than myself. But as a disinterested friend of Pittsburgh, and of the Chartiers Valley region, I desire to say a word in reference to one point in your correspondent's communication. He says: "The interests of Pittsburgh and of Chartiers Valley are with Mr. Garrett and not with Mr. Thomson." We admit that our interests are with Mr. Garrett so far as the Connelisville road is concerned, but when that road is finished from Camberisan to Pittsburgh; and Baltimore wants a connection with the west via the Hempfield and Central and Ohio roads, it strikes me that the most direct way to obtain it will be to complete the Hempfield road from Washington to West Newton, and thereby have a direct connection west without touching Pittsburgh. nection west without touching Pittsburgh.

The Hempfield road already belongs to Mr. Garrett, and a good deal of work has been done on it east of Washington, and it is not likely that Mr. Garrett would throw all that work away and take up with a new route (from Washington to Pittsburg,) where everything is yet to do.

With these facts in view it seems to me that the interest of Pittsburg is to assist in the completion of the Charters Valley road under the proposition of Mr. Thomson, and thus secure the trade of the whole region commanded by it, which may be diverted to Wheeling and Baltimore by the completion of the Hempfield Road to West Newton.

The lieutenant, who had taken an active partin the insolent joke upon the young eadet, could not in honor refuse. To have, shown a coward's discretion would have exposed him to the endiest jeers of his comrades. Grant made short work with him, and gave him a very thorough thrashing.

He then with apparently as much composure as if he had been attending to ordinary duties, turned to his companions in line and said:

"Who comes next? I want peace, but I am willing to fight the whole company, one by one, if that is necessary to gain peace."

His comrades now greeted him with three enthusiastic cheers. They came forward tumultuously, and shook him by the hand, declaring that one possessing so much plack should no longer be subject to their annovance. It was in reference to this offer to fight the whole company that he received the nickname of "Company Grant." This name he retained until, on a memorable occasion, he changed it for "Unconditional Surrender Grant."

INVESTIGATION has, it is said, devel-oped the fact that there is no absolute eed for further legislation in aid of the proposition to consolidate the public debt in new bonds at a low rate of interest. Existing laws already confe all the requisite power on the Secretary, for inaugurating such a measure, but it seems that he hesitates to exercise it. desiring to throw all the responsibility upon Congress. "Our farmers are now busily engaged in making hay, and from what we can learn, the grass crop, both clover and timothy, is splendid, and if the weather remains favorable an immense quantity of hay will be made through the county. By the middle of next week the wheat will be ready for the sickle. Like the grass crop, it is most excellent, and if nothing happens to it, which is not very likely as it is pretty well matured, the yield will be much heavier than last year. The rye also looks well and promises a good yield. We never had a better prospect for a bountiful harvest, for which we should be truly thankful to the Giver of all good.
